DAYTON CITY MANAGER DEREK WOODS

Explore exhibits at Old School Museum

DAYTON - Dayton City Manager Derek Woods encourages the public to come spend some time exploring the exhibits at The Old School Museum. It's open for visitors on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Admission is free.

Friendly docents are ready to welcome you and help you find the answers to these questions:

- Who was Dayton's first Mayor? It's not who you think. You can view a photo gallery of all of Dayton's mayors and Dayton ISD superintendents.

- When was the Dayton Volunteer Fire Department founded? How much did it cost to outfit a Dayton firefighter in 2017? It's much more than you'd think.
- Who were the brave men who wore service uniforms in World War I, World War II, Korea, Vietnam, and Desert Storm? See the uniform display.

The museum is located at 111 W. Houston Street, behind Walgreens.

Marsha Tousha with the Liberty VFW Post 5621 created this beautiful tribute entitled "Boots of Honor" Buddy Poppy Display for this year's statewide project for "Stepping Up for Veterans." The boots were donated by veteran Otis Clark and Marsha recreated Flanders Field. Members of the community were asked to write the name of a veteran that they wanted to be memorialized on the label of a Buddy Poppy for a special addition to the project.

Sixth Annual Prayer Rally meetings, Sept. 16 & 18

LIBERTY - Organizers are working tirelessly to prepare for the Sixth Annual Prayer Rally, formerly a march, held the first Saturday in October, and while it will include just as much worship, it will look a little different.

The rally is set for Sat., October 4, at noon and will take place in downtown Liberty at the Vara Faye Daniel Pavilion on Sam Houston Street.

"We want everyone to be there, so we are encouraging people - bring your blankets, bring your lawn chairs, bring your golf carts," Jane Delaney said. "It's going to be such a fabulous opportunity to fellowship, to worship, to hear singing, to participate."

Delaney is encouraging the community from every corner to come out and be a part of the event this year, as it has continued to grow each year.

Multiple pastors from various denominations will be speaking, sharing scripture and words to live by.

Delaney said the prayer focus is 2 Chronicles 7:14, as it is every year.

"If my people, who are called by my name, will humble themselves and pray. Seek my face, turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven. I will forgive their sin, and I will heal their land," Delaney said, reciting the Scripture.

This year's event will once again feature music from Karla Burris and Appointed by Grace, as well as music by the Liberty High School choir and other talents.

Churches across the county are encouraged to inform their congregations about the event in every service leading up to the event, and those who have signs from previous years are encouraged to display them to share the event.

Organizers want to invite everyone interested in lifting the community through prayer, especially local youth, as there will be a youth program during the event.

"We want to see kids that are all in, on fire, followers of Jesus going out and being alive in this world," said Larry MacNeil, youth group leader for North Main Baptist Church and for the event.

The program will be heavily centered on a

Gospel presentation with praise and worship, including music, and possibly an altar call.

MacNeil referenced Matthew 5, the Sermon on the Mount, saying, "My desire for these kids is to shine their light on this dark world...to be that example in this community."

MacNeil invites anyone interested in participating in the youth program. The youth group will have its first meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 16, at 6:30 p.m. at North Main Baptist Church, 4709 N. Main St., Liberty.

MacNeil encourages young musicians, youth pastors, and any young person wanting to worship to come to the meeting.

For those interested in getting involved, the next meeting will be Thursday, Sept. 18, at 6 p.m. at New Work Family Worship Center, 2512 Grand Ave., Liberty.

The event is not political, and organizers ask that attendees refrain from wearing political attire.

Anyone who would like a sign to advertise the event can stop by 1939 Trinity St., across from the courthouse.

For more questions, contact Jane Delaney at 713-248-9204 or adelaney3@comcast.net; Dede Taylor at 936-334-6043 or ddtatr127@gmail.com; or Pastor Finney at 832-275-6026 or georgefinney@gmail.com.
